About the Author

Corey P. Smith is a noted author and credit awareness expert who has used the lessons learned from his unforgettable life experiences to position him as one of the nation's foremost trailblazers in his arena. He is widely known as a credible, highly knowledgeable and invaluable resource. Smith is the author of How to Outsmart the Credit Bureaus and his latest release, The Conspiracy of Credit. He is also author of the documentary, "Credit is for Poor People." A native of Memphis, Tennessee, Smith graduated from Tennessee State University with a Bachelor's degree in Sociology. He is a former high school History teacher, corrections officer and Navy veteran. After finding himself living in an unfurnished apartment (that was not in his name) that had no electrical power, he realized a change must come in his life. This realization was the catalyst that led him on a quest that ultimately equipped him to effectively promote social economic awareness. Today, Smith dedicates his time to providing credit awareness and educational empowerment by sharing his expertise with as many audiences as he can. The difference between him and other financial advisors is this, "I simply provide people with information they can use rather than offer them a solution to the problem that just may or may not work for them. Knowledge is power, and I am pleased to share knowledge that has been tested and tried." For more information on Corey P. Smith, visit him online at www.conspiracyofcredit.com
